Why Attend This Training?

Disclaimers & Notes about this Training

- Content Warning: The content of this training may contain sexually explicit hypothetical scenarios of sexual assault, sexual exploitation, non-consensual sexual contact, and/or other inappropriate sexual conduct.
- Policy Differences: For the purposes of this training, the UTS Model Policy for Sexual Misconduct will be the primary policy reference. UT Institutional policies may have some differences.

Definition of “Sexual Assault”

An offense that meets the definition of Rape, Fondling, Incest, or Statutory Rape:

- Rape: The causing of penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, without the consent of the victim.
- Fondling: The touching of the private body parts of another person for the purpose of sexual gratification, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of his/her age or because of his/her temporary or permanent mental incapacity.
- Incest: Sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within the degrees wherein marriage is prohibited by law.
- Statutory Rape: Sexual intercourse with a person who is under the statutory age of consent.

Consent Definition

A voluntary, mutually understandable agreement that clearly indicates a willingness to engage in each instance of sexual activity. Consent to one act does not imply consent to another. Consent to engage in sexual activity with one person does not imply consent to engage in sexual activity with another. Consent can be withdrawn at any time. Any expression of an unwillingness to engage in any instance of sexual activity establishes a presumptive lack of consent.

Consent is not effective if it results from: (a) the use of physical force, (b) a threat of physical force, (c) intimidation, (d) coercion, (e) incapacitation or (f) any other factor that would eliminate an individual's ability to exercise his or her own free will to choose whether or not to have sexual activity.

A current or previous dating or sexual relationship, by itself, is not sufficient to constitute consent. Even in the context of a relationship, there must be a voluntary, mutually understandable agreement that clearly indicates a willingness to engage in each instance of sexual activity.

Intimidation Definition

Unlawfully placing another person in reasonable fear of bodily harm through the use of threatening words and/or other conduct, but without displaying a weapon or subjecting the victim to actual physical attack.

Coercion Definition

The use of unreasonable pressure to compel another individual to initiate or continue sexual activity against an individual's will. Coercion can include a wide range of behaviors, including psychological or emotional pressure, physical or emotional threats, intimidation, manipulation, or blackmail that causes the person to engage in unwelcome sexual activity. A person's words or conduct are sufficient to constitute coercion if they eliminate a reasonable person's freedom of will and ability to choose whether or not to engage in sexual activity.

Incapacitation Definition

Incapacitation is the inability, temporarily or permanently, to give consent because the individual is mentally and/or physically helpless, either voluntarily or involuntarily, or the individual is unconscious, asleep, or otherwise unaware that the sexual activity is occurring. An individual may be incapacitated if they are unaware at the time of the incident of where they are, how they got there, or why or how they became engaged in a sexual interaction.

When alcohol is involved, incapacitation is a state beyond drunkenness or intoxication. When drug use is involved, incapacitation is a state beyond being under the influence or impaired by use of the drug. Alcohol and other drugs impact each individual differently, and determining whether an individual is incapacitated requires an individualized determination.

Incapacitation Definition (Cont.)

After establishing that a person is in fact incapacitated,
the University asks:

1. Did the person initiating sexual activity know that the other party was incapacitated?
And if not...
2. Should a sober, reasonable person in the same situation have known that the other party was incapacitated?

If the answer to either of these questions is “YES,” consent was absent and the conduct is likely a violation of this Policy.

Note: A Respondent will be found to have violated policy only if the Respondent knew or should have known that the person was incapacitated.

Definition of “Other Inappropriate Sexual Conduct”

Conduct on the basis of sex that does not meet the definition of “sexual harassment” (under the Model Policy), but is prohibited inappropriate or unprofessional sexual conduct.

Such conduct is:

1. Verbal conduct (including through electronic means), unwanted statements of a sexual nature intentionally stated to a person or group of people, that are objectively offensive to a reasonable person and also so severe or pervasive that it created a Hostile Environment.
2. Physical conduct that is objectively offensive to a reasonable person and also so severe or pervasive that it created a Hostile Environment.

Possible Examples (depending on facts):

- Unwelcome sexual advances (including explicit or implicit proposition(s) of sexual contact or activity);
- Requests for sexual favors (including overt or subtle pressure);
- Gratuitous comments about an individual’s sexual activities or speculation about an individual’s sexual experiences;
- Gratuitous comments, jokes, questions, anecdotes or remarks of a sexual nature about clothing or bodies;
- Persistent, unwanted sexual or romantic attention;
- Exposure to sexually suggestive visual displays such as photographs, graffiti, posters, calendars or other materials;
- Deliberate, repeated humiliation or intimidation;
- Sexual exploitation;
- Unwelcome intentional touching of a sexual nature;
- Deliberate physical interference with or restriction of movement; or
- Consensual sexual conduct that is unprofessional and inappropriate, and created a Hostile Environment.

Definition of “Sexual Exploitation”

Conduct where an individual takes non-consensual or abusive sexual advantage of another for their own benefit, or to benefit anyone other than the one being exploited.

Examples of sexual exploitation include, but are not limited to: engaging in sexual voyeurism; forwarding of pornographic or other sexually inappropriate material by email, text, or other channels to non-consenting students/groups; the intentional removal of a condom or other contraceptive barrier during sexual activity without the consent of a sexual partner; threatening to “out” someone based on sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression; threatening to harm oneself if the other party does not engage in the sexual activity; threatening to disclose someone’s highly personal images; threatening to disclose sensitive details about one’s sexual preferences, habits, and/or experiences; and threatening to expose someone’s prior sexual activity to another person; and any activity that goes beyond the boundaries of consent, such as recording of sexual activity, letting others watch consensual sex, or knowingly transmitting a sexually transmitted disease (STD) to another.

Hypotheticals

Participant Goals

- Primary goal: Based on the information provided in each hypothetical scenario, make a determination as to whether or not the preponderance of the evidence is met for a policy violation (if applicable).
- Secondary goal: Identify the types of questions you would ask during the investigation or in a live hearing to understand the situation further and/or seek clarity?

Hypothetical Scenario 1

Complainant and Respondent are both students and meet for the first time at an off-campus party. They both consume alcohol "heavily" throughout the evening.

CP & RP start kissing and "making out" at the party. Then, CP & RP walk to CP's apartment. At the apartment, CP states "I don't want sex" but says "I'm fine 'playing around' a little." Then, CP & RP undress their own clothes and begin kissing and touching each other's bodies on CP's bed. RP penetrates CP with RP's fingers. CP shakes head from side to side and whispers "no no no" in a quiet but audible voice. RP does not stop immediately.

CP files a Formal Complaint and states that RP "sexually assaulted" CP.

Consent Definition

A voluntary, mutually understandable agreement that clearly indicates a willingness to engage in each instance of sexual activity. Consent to one act does not imply consent to another. Consent to engage in sexual activity with one person does not imply consent to engage in sexual activity with another. Consent can be withdrawn at any time. Any expression of an unwillingness to engage in any instance of sexual activity establishes a presumptive lack of consent.

Consent is not effective if it results from: (a) the use of physical force, (b) a threat of physical force, (c) intimidation, (d) coercion, (e) incapacitation or (f) any other factor that would eliminate an individual's ability to exercise his or her own free will to choose whether or not to have sexual activity.

A current or previous dating or sexual relationship, by itself, is not sufficient to constitute consent. Even in the context of a relationship, there must be a voluntary, mutually understandable agreement that clearly indicates a willingness to engage in each instance of sexual activity.

Hypothetical Scenario 2

Complainant and Respondent are both students in a sexual relationship for about 5 months and both describe the relationship as “friends with benefits.” Generally each week, either the CP or RP will text the other person to see if the other wants to “hook up.” “Hooking up” usually consists of (a) watching some television together and making small talk; and (b) at some point, one person initiates kissing and sex. Once during the first month, CP & RP had penetrative intercourse. Other than that, all of the sexual contact has been oral.

On the night of the incident, CP invites RP to CP’s apartment. CP states that CP intended that they would each perform oral sex on each other just like they had multiple times. When RP arrives at CP’s apartment, neither person exchanges any words. Instead, CP and RP begin kissing. CP begins performing oral sex on RP. RP then penetrates CP with RP’s penis. CP states that when RP penetrated CP, CP “froze” and did not know what to do. CP states that the penetration was not consensual.

CP files a Formal Complaint and states that the penetration on that night lacked any “consent.” CP cites materials from a campus advocacy organization that states that consent must be verbal and that there must be consent for each sexual act. The next day, RP files a Formal Complaint and states that if the penetration was “not consensual,” neither was the oral sex CP performed on RP. Therefore, RP asserts RP “was the victim of sexual assault” by CP.

Hypothetical Scenario 3

Complainant and Respondent are both students. One night they were at Complainant's apartment, and they began kissing. Complainant kissed Respondent first. Respondent reciprocated the kiss and began hugging Complainant, moving Respondent's hands on Complainant's back. Complainant did the same. This continued for a moment before Respondent moved Respondent's hand to Complainant's breasts, over Complainant's clothes. Complainant pushed Respondent's hand away.

They continued kissing for a few more minutes and Complainant began kissing Respondent's neck. Respondent tried to touch Complainant's breasts again. Again, Complainant moved Respondent's hands away while they continued kissing. They kissed for a few more seconds and then Complainant told Respondent Complainant had to study.

The next day, Complainant told a friend about the encounter, who told Complainant that Complainant had been sexually assaulted (touching breasts without consent). Complainant had previously not characterized the event as a sexual assault. But CP now considers the RP's behavior as a sexual assault. CP files a Formal Complaint.

Hypothetical Scenario 4

Complainant and Respondent are both Ph.D. students in their early 30s, married to each other. CP does not want to have children. RP does want children. For years, RP has taken birth control pills and CP knows this. RP decides she wants to get pregnant even if CP does not want children; RP decides to stop taking birth control pills.

CP & RP engage in vaginal intercourse throughout the next two months. Each time, the two discuss whether to have sex and each says “Yes, I want to have sex” before any sexual activity occurs. Then, RP becomes pregnant. When CP finds out about the pregnancy, RP confesses that she intentionally stopped taking birth control pills to get pregnant and says that she assumed once she was pregnant CP would share the excitement and decide that he wants a child. CP initiates a separation and files for divorce.

CP files a Formal Complaint and says he was “sexual assaulted” because “the sex was not consensual.” He states that he verbally consented to “protected sex, not unprotected sex.”

29

Incapacitation Definition

Incapacitation is the inability, temporarily or permanently, to give consent because the individual is mentally and/or physically helpless, either voluntarily or involuntarily, or the individual is unconscious, asleep, or otherwise unaware that the sexual activity is occurring. An individual may be incapacitated if they are unaware at the time of the incident of where they are, how they got there, or why or how they became engaged in a sexual interaction.

When alcohol is involved, incapacitation is a state beyond drunkenness or intoxication. When drug use is involved, incapacitation is a state beyond being under the influence or impaired by use of the drug. Alcohol and other drugs impact each individual differently, and determining whether an individual is incapacitated requires an individualized determination.

Then, one mile away from CP’s apartment, CP receives a text from RP where RP invites CP to RP’s apartment and provides an address. RP states that RP “really enjoyed talking with [CP] and would like to spend some more time together.” When CP tells the Uber driver that CP wants to go to a different address, the driver tells the CP that CP must tell the Uber app what the new address is. Definition of “Sexual Assault”

An offense that meets the definition of Rape, Fondling, Incest, or Statutory Rape:

- Rape: The causing of penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, without the consent of the victim.
- Fondling: The touching of the private body parts of another person for the purpose of sexual gratification, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of his/her age or because of his/her temporary or permanent mental incapacity.
- Incest: Sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within the degrees wherein marriage is prohibited by law.

CP and RP begin to kiss and “make out,” and RP quickly escalates things by undressing CP. CP does not want to have sex but is genuinely interested in perhaps having a relationship with RP. At that moment, if you asked CP if CP wanted to have sex of any kind with RP, CP would respond “No.” However, in RP’s apartment “making out” and unclothed, CP felt pressure to please RP and offered to perform oral sex on RP. CP stated that RP is “larger in size” than CP, and CP was afraid of what RP would do if CP did not “give RP what RP wanted.”

CP filed a Formal Complaint, stating “I was too intoxicated to perform oral sex, and was coerced.” RP is surprised by the complaint because RP believed the oral sex was consensual.

Coercion Definition

The use of unreasonable pressure to compel another individual to initiate or continue sexual activity against an individual's will. Coercion can include a wide range of behaviors, including psychological or emotional pressure, physical or emotional threats, intimidation, manipulation, or blackmail that causes the person to engage in unwelcome sexual activity. A person's words or conduct are sufficient to constitute coercion if they eliminate a reasonable person's freedom of will and ability to choose whether or not to engage in sexual activity.

Hypothetical Scenario 11

Complainant and Respondent have been in a romantic/sexual relationship for two years and live together off-campus. RP usually initiates sexual activity with CP and generally wants to have sex more frequently than CP. Recently, CP has not been feeling like having sex at all. One evening, RP suggests that CP & RP have sex. CP states a lack of desire. RP persists and states that CP's frequent rejections (especially as of late) "hurt" RP and RP states that RP wants to have sex because RP "feels a deep connection through sex."

CP hears this and although CP later states "I did not want to have sex," CP reluctantly agreed but only because CP says "I was coerced" by RP. In CP's Formal Complaint, CP writes, "No' means 'no.' When I said 'no,' that was not an invitation to convince me."

Coercion Definition

The use of unreasonable pressure to compel another individual to initiate or continue sexual activity against an individual's will. Coercion can include a wide range of behaviors, including psychological or emotional pressure, physical or emotional threats, intimidation, manipulation, or blackmail that causes the person to engage in unwelcome sexual activity. A person's words or conduct are sufficient to constitute coercion if they eliminate a reasonable person's freedom of will and ability to choose whether or not to engage in sexual activity.

Hypothetical Scenario 12

Complainant and Respondent are both students and met recently on campus. CP invited RP over one Friday evening to CP's apartment to play board games. Also present were two of CP's roommates and three other friends.

After midnight, the friends went home and the roommates each went into their own rooms after saying goodnight. The RP helped CP clean up and then they began consensual kissing on the couch in the shared living area.

The kissing progressed to "making out" with each putting hands on the other's back and body. RP slowly moved RP's hand onto CP's genital area. CP continued kissing RP but stated, "My roommates will hear us." While still "making out," RP whispered, "I don't care."

While they continued "making out," both began taking their own clothes off. While taking CP's own pants off, CP stated, "I don't have any condoms." RP said that RP had one. The two then engaged in sexual intercourse, changing positions twice.

A few weeks later, the CP filed a Formal Complaint and stated, "The sex was not consensual. I didn't want to have sex that night."

Consent Definition

A voluntary, mutually understandable agreement that clearly indicates a willingness to engage in each instance of sexual activity. Consent to one act does not imply consent to another. Consent to engage in sexual activity with one person does not imply consent to engage in sexual activity with another. Consent can be withdrawn at any time. Any expression of an unwillingness to engage in any instance of sexual activity establishes a presumptive lack of consent.

Consent is not effective if it results from: (a) the use of physical force, (b) a threat of physical force, (c) intimidation, (d) coercion, (e) incapacitation or (f) any other factor that would eliminate an individual's ability to exercise his or her own free will to choose whether or not to have sexual activity.

A current or previous dating or sexual relationship, by itself, is not sufficient to constitute consent. Even in the context of a relationship, there must be a voluntary, mutually understandable agreement that clearly indicates a willingness to engage in each instance of sexual activity.
