The Title IX investigators and the Respondent will meet to ensure there is an understanding of the reported behavior. They will also discuss skills and recommended resources to avoid the behavior in the future.

The Title IX investigators will provide the outcomes to the Respondent, including but not limited to counseling, mediation, or education programs.

Outcomes

The Title IX investigators and the Respondent will meet to ensure there is an understanding of the reported behavior. They will also discuss skills and recommended resources to avoid the behavior in the future.

Developmental Conversation

At the beginning of the informal resolution process, a No Contact Directive will be issued and will remain in place for the duration of a student's enrollment with the university.

Interim Measures

The parties involved will be notified of the resolution that has been reached. The appeal process is not available unless there is new evidence presented.

Notification of Outcome

The Title IX Office is available for support, questions, and resources for all parties involved in the informal resolution process.
